

VoteClimate

Maximise your vote to save the planet.

How worried are you?

Do you want the government to take real action on climate change?

There is hope.

By voting together as a block
we can make that happen.

What you need to do

Tell us which constituency you're in

Agree to be contacted before the next general election

Switch your vote to a party with a better
climate policy

How It Works

At the next general election, based on expert analysis, we will rank the political parties' manifestos according to which, if fully implemented over 5 years, will lead to the greatest long-term reduction in UK climate emissions.

Before the next election we will tell members which party to vote for based on that ranking, out of the parties that can conceivably win in their constituency.

The members promise to vote based on that recommendation. The parties with the best climate policies will win more seats.

As the next general election approaches, we will tell the political parties how many votes and seats they can hope to gain if they have the best climate policies.

Together we show the political parties that manifesto commitments on climate will earn them more votes and more seats.

Why It Will Work

- It's the easiest way to fight climate change: just a few minutes to sign up and to vote.
- Suppose we recruit one million members: that's an average of over 1,500 members in each constituency.
- At the 2019 election there were 46 seats with majorities lower than that.
- That's enough seats to swing the next election.
